COOLIDGE IDEAS
ANOTHER DRY GONE
RUSSIA'S ATTITUDE

—By Arthur Brisbane—

CALVIN COOLIDGE, who never says a word that isn't interesting, is for peace, as long as nobody says or does anything that he doesn't like.

He urges Americans "instead of catering to the instinct of the barbarian, who considered every stranger an enemy, to make more progress by following the dictates of religious enlightenment, which teaches that all men are brothers."

ALL MEN WERE brothers but look what happened to some.

And, by the way, the ancient barbarian who considered every stranger an enemy, was the ancient barbarian that survived. He didn't go for a stroll without his club, a short flint at the end of it. He never said: "I love everybody." Had he done so, some of those that he loved would have eaten him that evening.

Another good dry has "gone wrong," from the point of view of prohibition. Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, hitherto very dry, concludes now that "national prohibition is a failure" and that each state should be left to regulate the liquor traffic as a majority of its citizens deem advisable.

Senator Wheeler says he voted for prohibition in Montana to get rid of the saloons, "but under prohibition, we have in many cities more dives and speakeasies, where they are openly selling rotten whisky, than you had in the old days."

RUSSIA'S SYSTEMATIC attacks on religious beliefs continue. All the prayers uttered on that subject seem, thus far, without result. The wise man, however, knows that providence works in its own way and its own time.

Russia changes the great cathedral of St. Isaac at Leningrad from a church to an "anti-religious museum." The main altar displays, on a moving picture screen, anti-religious pictures. Anti-religious lectures are delivered from the pulpit.

It is a comfort for those really religious to know that the ruler of the universe could if he would, and perhaps will send a bolt of lightning to destroy the building impulsively used, with the moving picture machines and all the people in it.

U. S. S. KANE, OFF AMERICA'S CUP COURSE, Sept. 15.—The Enterprise rounded the twenty-mile mark in her race in defense of the America's cup against the Shamrock V, at 1:22:25 (E. S. T.) she was two miles or more ahead of the British boat.

The enterprise put the wind off her port quarter and almost directly astern as she turned for home.

MURDER CAUSES POLICE ACTION IN SOUTH BEND

Atrocious Slaying While
Girl Sleeps Arouses
Indiana City

(By Associated Press)

SOUTH BEND, IND., Sept. 15.—Another girl murder as atrocious, as unprovoked and apparently as barren of clues as the first, has transformed South Bend into a city of agitated citizenry calling upon the law for the quick arrest and punishment of the slayers.

Alice Wolman, 17 years old, was murdered in her bed early yesterday. Her throat was cut with a razor. So quick was the killing and so silent that three other children asleep in the same room—one of them beside her in the bed—were unaware of it. A few minutes later the thumping of the girl's body on the stairway to which, dying, she had crawled, awakened the household.

Two young men who had been paying attention to her have been questioned by police without, however, providing any clue to identity of the killer.

Girls Body Found

Less than three weeks ago the body of seven-year-old Marberine Appel was found in an alley near her home. She had been attacked, then murdered.

Two killings today prompted the taking of added precautions for protection of South Bend school children.

Alex Pietrzak, 18, who was twice questioned yesterday and who was to be questioned today, told police he and Alice were engaged to be married. Pietrzak had taken the girl to a dance Saturday night and had been with her and her mother in the kitchen of the Wolman house up to a few hours before the murder.

Barney Kuzyszynski, 23, who was Alice Wolman's escort to several dances recently, also was questioned.

No motive for the killing had been discovered today.

LISBON, Sept. 15.—Juanita Santula, aged three, fell at her home in Lisbon Sunday afternoon, cut her left hand badly and was taken to a doctor's office by her father.

The cut sustained when a nursing bottle was broken by the child's fall required eight stitches and after being given medical treatment she was being taken home by her father, Frank Santula.

As the father and girl were returning home, another daughter, Ruth, dashed across the street to greet them. Half way across the street she was struck by an automobile operated by Matthew Reed, Lisbon.

Ruth sustained injuries which are reported by Salem City hospital officials as serious. The driver of the car was not held.

Canton Man Meets Death at Steubenville When Head Strikes Rock

STUEBENVILLE, Sept. 15.—Carl G. "Red" Miller, 36, of Canton, died in the Ohio Valley hospital here late last night, two hours after he was found unconscious on a rock pile on which he landed from a 2,000 foot parachute jump.

Miller who claimed to hold a commercial record leap of four miles made at Akron on May 10, of this year, was scheduled for an exhibition jump from the plane of Captain Jack Adams, at Beverly Hills airport here.

Only a small crowd was present. Miller's descent seemed to be ordinary and the majority of the spectators thought that he had landed safely although he drifted about twenty yards beyond the rim of the field. The friends who reached him to help untangle him from his harness found him unconscious. His head had struck a rock.

He was rushed to the hospital where Dr. F. B. Harrington attempted to operate in order to save his life. Miller's wife accompanied him here. She was prostrated when she learned of the accident. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Miller, also of Canton.

Dictators and Organs Not Wanted

The most frequent expression of opinion on the recent unrest in Latin America assumes that revolution is part and parcel of the Latin-American way of doing things. While this is true, it is not at all a sufficient explanation of the recent disturbances in Peru and Argentina.

A determined and widespread revolt against one-man rule and fear of domination by foreign capital are equally important factors in Latin-American strife. Former President Irgoyen of Argentina and former President Leguia of Peru both had the support of the people as a whole, both had been eminently successful as administrators but both were victims of economic forces and the bogey of foreign domination. "Too much money borrowed in Wall street and invested in non-revenue producing public works far in advance of the requirements of the country," was the cry of President Leguia's opponents. It is the same cry that has been or will be echoed, with variations, in Peru, Bolivia, Argentina, Cuba, Brazil and other countries with common antipathy for dictators and the consciousness of huge foreign loans borrowed in the United States.

South American loans started when the United States emerged from the Spanish-American war as a world power. The financial capital of the world had shifted from London to New York City and American business men had wrested the best South American trade markets from Great Britain and Germany. Consequently, it was to Wall street that the ambitious rulers of the southern republics turned for capital to develop their countries. Their plans demanded their continued presence in office, hence numerous thinly-veiled dictatorships dependent upon the whim of the populace, undoubtedly they meant well but they were thinking in advance of their people.

Right or wrong, there is an idea in South America that an ore of high finance, who is ready to eat Latin-Americans out of house and home, resides in Wall street. As long as that idea persists there will be disturbances in the Latin-American republics.

What Others Say

VACATION BENEFITS

A writer in the Journal of Commerce suggests with considerable plausibility that the benefits of a vacation extend to those who stay behind as well as to those who leave. He has the insurance business particularly in mind, but his arguments apply to any business. It is unquestionably true that the executive called upon to do the work of a subordinate in addition to his own will find time for tasks neglected during the period when he had only his own duties to perform; this is in accord with the old village rule of going to the busiest man in town for the performance of any business requiring expedition. It is also true that subordinates who take on for a period of two or three weeks the duties of their superiors have the opportunity to get acquainted with responsibility and to test their abilities without severe penalty.

Another advantage of the vacation period not always comprehended is that it shakes up office routine. When absence of members of the staff compels a rearrangement of personnel and tasks it is often discovered that doing things in a new way is an improvement. The office worker who comes back to work with health restored, mind at ease and sun-tanned skin, naturally feels that he alone benefited by his two weeks in the country; he seldom realizes that by the mere act of staying away from the office for a fortnight he has shaken the structure of routine and moved it from its base a perceptible distance.—New York Sun.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Watch Care of Eyes
Sight is the most important of all your precious senses. What it gives us adds immeasurably to the satisfaction of living. It informs us of the world in which we live, of all its objects and the doings of our friends.

DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND
"Myopia," or "near-sightedness," is an eye defect that can be overcome only by the wearing of glasses. For years man has tried other means of relief. Massage, suction, pressure and various exercises have been tried but to no purpose.

In every high degree of myopia, operative procedure has been used. But in the long run glasses seem to be the only corrective measure worth while.

Persons who are near-sighted are called "myopes." They are so large and so long that the retina the seeing part of the eye is too far back to receive distinctly the focussed rays of light.

The effect is the same upon vision as though the picture used in the projecting machine of a moving picture theater were too small for the room. The screen is so far away that the images reaching it are blurred and indistinct.

A person afflicted with near-sightedness is never sure of what he sees. He can scarcely make out objects across the room. He fails to recognize his friends on the street. There is one thing he can do which his far-sighted brother fails to do. It is his only advantage. I refer to the ability of the myope to read the finest type nearby without spectacles.

Occasionally we hear about an elderly person who reads without the aid of glasses. Almost always this is because the myopic eye is well suited for close work. While the distant vision is exceedingly defective, the near vision may be excellent.

Myopia is sometimes progressive, increasing from year to year. Any severe illness may materially aggravate this visual defect.

In the correction of myopia strong concave lenses are used for distant vision. Unless the degree of myopia is very high, no glasses are required for reading.

When there is an excessive amount of near-sightedness it may be necessary to have a second pair of glasses. In such a case the reading glasses are much weaker than the distance ones.

Weak concave lenses have the effect of increasing the clearness and definition of distant objects. Things may look somewhat smaller, but at the same time they are far more distinct.

It is important that near-sightedness be corrected. Certain eye diseases are more common in cases of neglected myopia.

Too many persons are careless of their sight. When the wearing of glasses can overcome the evils of eye defects it is strange that so many persons go on from year to year without them. I cannot urge you too strongly to attend to your eyes.

The Stars Say

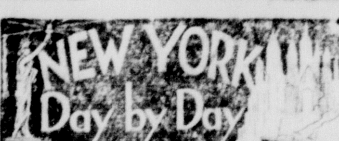

For Tuesday, September 16

A generally adverse and difficult state of affairs is predicted from the governing lunar influences of this day. There may be a very difficult and stubborn situation to surmount, with treachery, misrepresentation and fraud inspiring enmity and possible litigation. However the mind will be keen and alert, and with the new plans and projects under favorable astral tokens, with discretion and sagacity affairs may be made to prosper in the end. Be careful with writings.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year calling for sagacity, wisdom and discretion in directing affairs over tenacious obstacles and difficult circumstances. There is a portent of treachery, fraud, misrepresentation and subtle enmity, with danger from papers or writings. But these omens are offset by signs of alert mind, keep insight into bad situations and the assistance of favorable intervention in new projects. A child born on this day should have a keen and penetrating mental equipment, which it may need to overcome tenacious obstacles as well as subtle enemies in life.

It's Possible He May

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Diary of a modern Peppy. Came an amusing note from Frederic Burr Oppen, grand old conquisador of the cartoons, and to breakfast with Bellefontaine's pride Howard Action and amusing him so recalling days we were cubs together he had a lapse of memory and signed the chili.

For a promenade and talked to Jimmy Elliott and saw a man widely whispered to have pistoled Arnold Rothstein but roaming at large, smiling, debonaire! To my task but the typewriter stuck and I had a high time tinkering with it, treasuring such excuses not to work.

To dinner on the St. Regis roof and among others saw the Grantland Rice, the Keats Speeds, Regina Wallace and a Diddle—the one with the ministerial collar. So dining in the magic gold and cool of the park and home reading aloud to my wife from a racy life of Balzac.

It just gave me a start to recall my memory of New York goes clear back to the days when the Grand Concourse was not torn up.

More than 100 prominent gentlemen in New York have overcome stammering in various ways. Once a year they hold a dinner at which long and fluent speeches are made. I hear once an impediment is mastered it never troubles again. Some of the most charming people I know stutter.

A paragrapher anxious about Senator Hefflin inquires: "What has become of the old Tom Show?"

All of which is remindful that 10 Tom Thumb golf courses a week are still springing up around New York. The heavy play from midnight until daylight has provided philanthropists with a dandy excuse, too, the dirty stay-outs!

Personal nomination for the grandest soda in town—the chocolate at Allegretti's in the Astor.

The Hudson River Bridge, the longest single span in the world nearing completion on upper Riverside, gleams at night with electric warnings for airplanes. You wouldn't think cable stretching could possibly be so exciting but I run up every week for a look. Also to see the batch of cute red heads in the little soft drink stand next door.

One of the road house cabarets along Pelham offers a side-spitting diversion, at least for me. A pair of skaters execute dizzy whirls and aerials. The male skater calls for volunteers from the diners. It is surprising how many respond who are not "plants"—a little "ham" in everybody! He swings them in the air a few moments, suddenly puts them on their feet and skates away. Arid Leon Errol in his limpest day never stumbled into such hilarious guttapercha falls.

Salem High Opposes Strong Canton McKinley Team In Opener

NEW YORK GIANTS ELIMINATED FROM NATIONAL LEAGUE RACE

THE DAY In Sports

FIGHT SEASON STARTS

Starting tonight the fight season is officially opened in northeastern Ohio. Leather-pushers will occupy a fairly prominent place in news of the day and will be surprised in popularity hereabouts only by football during the fall and the coming world series between the Philadelphia Athletics and either the Chicago Cubs, Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals, which is one way of saying that the New York Giants are practically out of it unless they finish with a spurt and trim the Dodgers about four straight in their series at Ebbetts field in the final session of the national pastime.

Washingtonville inaugurated the fight racket's appearance near Salem last Friday and tonight the big show of the month, featuring Gordia Jones, is on at Canton's public auditorium. Tomorrow night an amateur professional show with six or more bouts will be staged at Brainerd's auditorium in Alliance. The possibilities of a fight show for Salem are slim indeed because of the depression in business at Mulins but chances are that bugs here will get their fill of the racket in exhibitions at Canton, Alliance, Akron and Youngstown.

East Liverpool has a classy fight show scheduled tonight.

Floyd Stone is certain that his football team this year will be even better than his great aggregation that went through its 1929 schedule without sustaining defeat. With good luck adding the team it should develop into another of Salem High's truly great grid machines. The lads, working out under great handicaps, are in excellent condition. Lettermen of last year look better than ever and youngsters who were members of the reserve squad give every indication of having developed into potential varsity players.

Go into any business establishment in Salem and listen to conversations for a few minutes. It will be discovered that football and Salem High are topics of all discussions. There's probably no other city in Ohio more enthused about the gridiron activity than this Quaker City. It's only hoped that backers will still be as enthused if bad breaks should develop and Stone's boys sustain defeat this year. Salem has proved itself a poor backer of losing teams, more so than any other Columbiana county city as was shown last season in basketball. Fans here should learn that even the best of teams lose occasionally. A coach and his football team have plenty of difficulties without encountering adverse criticism from the downtown area.

Here are some ways in which you can identify your favorite college football team:

Penn. State—Nittany Lions; Princeton—Tigers; Pitt. Panthers; Southern Methodists, Mustangs; Maryland, Terrapins; Western Reserve, Redcats; Southern Carolina, Gamecocks; Cincinnati, Bearcats; Iowa, Hawkeyes; Dayton, Flyers; Ohio Northern, Polar Bears; Carnegie Tech, Tartans; Purdue, Bull-ermakers.

Southern California, Trojans; Fordham Rams; Florida, Alligators; Marquette, Golden Avengers; Wisconsin, Badgers; Yale, Bulldogs; Columbia, Lions; John Carroll, Blue Streaks; California, Golden Bears; Wash.-Jeff, Presidents; Minnesota, Gophers; Penn. Quakers; Tulane, Green Waves; Harvard, Cantabs; Tennessee, Volunteers; Texas Christian, Horned Frogs; Akron, Zippers; Alabama, Crimson Tide; Notre Dame, Irish.

What The Stars Did Yesterday

(By Associated Press)

SPORTS YESTERDAY'S STARS
CHARLEY RUFFING, Yankees—Hit Tigers to seven hits; accounted for six runs with two doubles and a triple.
JIM MOORE, White Sox—Beat Senators 2-1, with six hits.
BABE HERMAN, Robins—Hit double and two singles, drove in one run and scored two against Reds.
LLOYD WANER, Pirates—Drove in four runs with trio of singles against Giants.
BEN CANTWELL, Braves—Stopped Cardinals' streak holding them to eight hits and winning 7-4.

Young Rudy Heads E. Liverpool Card

EAST LIVERPOOL, Sept. 15.—Young Rudy, Charolot welterweight slugging star of the James "Red" Mason stable, and Freddy Edwards, center, on of the most outstanding boxers developed in the Ohio valley in recent years, will battle 10 rounds tonight in the closing event of the summer at Fout's bowl, Col umbian park.

The scrap, which tops a card of five events, will mark the third meeting between the pair.

In two previous encounters at Washington, Pa., Rudy hung up consecutive decisions.

Take from the learned the pleasure of making their learning heard, and their learning will be worth nothing to them.—Rousseau.

Ohio Scholastic Teams Inaugurate Campaigns For 1930 On Saturday

The thud of the bounding pig-skin, music to the ears of hundreds of thousands of football fans throughout the United States, will reverberate from coast to coast, the Lakes to the Gulf and Atlantic to Pacific, as collegiate and scholastic grid machines inaugurate the 1930 gridiron season this week.

A few preliminary contests were played last Saturday in the Buckeye State but the Ohio season opens officially Saturday. That day also marks the opening of a campaign towards another great record by the ambitious veteran machine of talented grid stars under the supervision of Coaches Floyd W. Stone and Franklin P. Lewis who will represent the Red and Black of Salem High this fall.

The Stonemen clash with the strong Canton McKinley High aggregation, a school which Salem High has never yet defeated in a gridiron encounter, at Lakeside stadium, Canton, in a contest which looks as one of great seriousness for both teams. Canton's coaching staff, Dwight Peabody and Charles Wright, regard the Salem game as the stiffest on their team's schedule while Stone and Lewis refuse, to take the Stark county combine with anything but an extremely serious aspect of mind.

Salem Holds Edge
 From the standpoint of veteran material available for the current season, Salem holds a distinct advantage, but Peabody and Wright, the latter coming to Stark county from Bellaire, where he developed some of the southeastern Ohio school's greatest teams, have developed outstanding stars from a group of lads with varsity experience but who failed to win letters last year. In weight also, Salem has the edge, but Canton will be the faster team by quite a margin of speed, a factor that has everything to do in determining the superior gridiron machine.

The fact that both teams will be playing their opening games of the season will null any advantage either holds, on paper, over the other. The combinations which Stone and Peabody are developing for use in that game are as yet untried in competition this season, and the former mentor is being handicapped greatly in his development of his varsity eleven by the lack of a suitable practice field. Canton's last basketball season didn't have a letterman left from the year previous, Salem High had a full squad of five varsity cagers available. The teams clashed in the 1929 opener and the Stonemen suffered their worst setback of the season.

Situation Similar
 The situation now is exactly the same except from the fact that now it is football instead of basketball. Stone is positive that his team of this year will outclass even his undefeated eleven of a year ago if the breaks don't come too often against him. He and Lewis face a mighty serious situation in the maintenance of the team's record.

East Liverpool High, with a new coaching staff for a third consecutive season, opens with Chester, W. Va., at Chester while East Palestine clashes with Alliance, at Alliance. George Wilcoxen's team opened its season by holding a strong Alumni combine to a 14-14 last Saturday. Lisbon played at Newell, W. Va.

King Football begins his autumn reign in Youngstown with plenty of action in the Mahoning valley district. Boardman is Youngstown South's guest at South stadium and Scienceville opposes Raven High while Campbell Memorial plays at Akron North, East and Chaney are not scheduled.

Friday Games
 Austintown plays at Mineral Ridge Friday afternoon and Brookfield is at Farrell, Pa., the same day. Girard plays at Cortland Friday.

New Castle, Pa. High, responsible for the introduction of night football in this section of the country, inaugurates its schedule by opposing Coraopolis under the Lawrence county team's giant floodlight system while North Jackson and Liberty play a Friday afternoon game. Warren introduces the nocturnal action in Trumbull county that evening by meeting Newton Falls on its own ballfield.

Struthers High meets Conneaut at home, Saturday.

MORBITO SHOWS UP GREAT WITH CARNEGIE TECH

Leetonia Lad Is Probable Varsity Back During Coming Season

Joseph "Joe" Morbito, a lad who has probably brought more football fame to the village of Leetonia than any other gridder ever developed from that community, is playing his final year as a member of the Carnegie Tech varsity at Pittsburgh this season.

Weighing only 170 pounds, Carnegie coaches announced Saturday that to-date he held a slight edge in his battle for the fullback berth with John Karcis, the team's man mountain of more than 215-avoids, and will undoubtedly be seen at that position during the majority of the Tartar's contests.

Morbato was given his big chance last season when Karcis, recognized as one of the country's greatest defensive fullbacks, was injured. This season, in the Tartar's training workouts, Morbito has made a sensational showing and in case coaches decide both he and Karcis are worthy of a ball-carrying berth, will probably be switched to halfback.

The Leetonia gridder was a prominent factor in the only victory ever registered by his home school over Salem High school, back in 1923. Wilbur Springer's first year as Red and Black mentor, Leetonia won by a 7-6 score after being outplayed in all departments of the game except scoring and dropkicking.

Webber Eligible For Grid Season

Wilbur Webber, star guard of the Salem High school football team last year, will be eligible for competition with the Red and Black during its 1930 campaign, Coach Floyd W. Stone announced today.

Webber passed a re-examination submitted to him by school officials Thursday evening and qualified for competition.

His eligibility increases possibilities of another great football team for Salem High. Webber was one of the 1930 team's leading mainstays and won all-county honors at guard.

Brooklyn Holds Lead By Half Game; Ferrel Loses Decision To A's

(By Associated Press)

Brooklyn, St. Louis and Chicago, lined up in a new order today, are practically on even terms in the National league pennant race. Each has lost 60 games. The difference in the number of victories puts Brooklyn a half game ahead of St. Louis and a full game ahead of Chicago.

The New York Giants were practically eliminated from the race as they lost a double header to Pittsburgh yesterday and found themselves 5½ games back of first place. The Giants lost the first crash in the 10th inning, 8 to 6, and the second 7 to 3 in seven innings.

CLUB W. L. Pct. Gms. Behind
 Brooklyn 83 60 .580 ...
 St. Louis 82 60 .577 ½
 Chicago 81 60 .574 1
 New York 77 65 .542 5½

Brooklyn won its way to the top yesterday by scoring its tenth straight victory at the expense of the Cincinnati Reds. The score was 8 to 3. Thurston gave the Reds three runs in the first inning, but Jim Elliott shut them out with six hits in 8 2-3 frames while powerful hitting against Radey and Koip soon put the Robins ahead.

The Cardinals who took the lead Saturday as Chicago's Cubs dropped to third through a defeat by the Phillies, promptly went back to second place yesterday as they divided a double header with the Boston Braves. Burleigh Grimes won the first game, 9 to 2, but the Braves slammed Sylvester Johnson around to take the second 7 to 4. The Cubs and Philadelphia were idle yesterday but have a double header today.

The Philadelphia Athletics made their hold on first place in the Injured Arm Forces Paxson From Squad

RICHARD PAXSON, candidate for the Salem High grid varsity, will be unable to participate in workouts with the football squad for two weeks as the result of an injury sustained last week.

Paxson, candidate for a guard position, sustained a badly wrenched right arm during practices at Centennial park. He was taken to his home at Berlin Center.

It was the second major injury sustained by a Salem gridder this season. Hugh Bailey, varsity end, sprained an ankle during the training camp at Dun Eden but will probably be available for the McKinley game Saturday.

American league a little safer by bumping Wesley Ferrell and the Cleveland Indians for a 7 to 1 triumph while Washington was losing to Chicago 2 to 1. Four more triumphs for the A's will assure them of nothing worse than a tie for first place.

Chaos Follows Sunday Elections In Germany

GOVERNMENT TO COLLAPSE SOON, OBSERVERS SAY

Fascists Show Gains in Power As Do Other Organizations

COMMUNISTS ALSO RECEIVE SUPPORT

Over 400 Are Arrested In Berlin As Disorders Mar Elections

(By Associated Press)
BERLIN, Sept. 15.—A parliamentary chaos, in which government will be able to survive, loomed in Germany today as a consequence of Reichstag elections Sunday.

So extensive may be the results of the polling, in which Fascists and Communists, themselves bitterly antagonistic, received almost a landslide of votes, that fall of the present Brüning government—now almost a certainty—marked the least serious of the developments which now threaten.

Chancellor Brüning's second cabinet remained the largest single group in the Reichstag as a result of the polling. They probably will have 143 deputies.

Fascists Show Gains
The Fascists of Adolf Hitler, young Austrian responsible for the notorious 1923 Munich Putsch, made astounding gains in virtually every section of the country, and jumped from 12 seats in the 1928 elections to 107.

Communists, at the opposite end of the parliamentary scale, from the Fascists, but with them opposed to the Republic and to the peace treaties, gained 22 new seats in the Reichstag, jumping from 54 to 76, to become the third largest party in the body.

Other totals, estimated by the federal election supervisor on the basis of total votes cast were: Centerists 69, Nationalists 41, People's party, 28, economic party, 23, States party, 22, Bavarians 13, Farmers league 18, Christian Socialists 14, Peasants party, 6, Hanoverians 5, Landbund 3, Conservatives, 3, total 573 against 491 seats in the 1928 election.

Fall Seems Inevitable
Chancellor Brüning's fall might almost be taken for granted unless he can enlist the collaboration of the Social Democrats who preceded the elections refused to ally themselves with him in most of his important moves.

A new government, it would appear, will have to be built around a left combination in which the Social Democrats have the greatest authority in such a case they practically always would be a main opposition comprising Communists, Fascists and Nationalists who together can muster 224 Reichstag votes, not a majority but sufficient with other probable opposition elements to make any government step dangerous.

United in their opposition, this group could never get together to form a government themselves. Some disorders attended the election, but both in Berlin and in the provinces they were of minor character, although Communists Palmer sang a duet and the local church choir offered several numbers under the direction of Mrs. R. Raley.

The church was a mere hut in the beginning, but in later years an old-fashioned red brick building was erected which served the small congregation for many years. In 1900 the present structure was erected and dedicated. Rev. Kirk-

PROFIT

In 1919 I sold a residence property for $2200. In 1921 it resold for $3300 and the present owner occupies it for a home and is entirely satisfied.

In 1923 I sold another property for $6500. The buyer remodeled at a cost of $3600 and resold it for $13,000—and it is not now for sale.

AT THE GRAND

"The Locked Door"

Featuring an all-star cast composed of Rod La Rocque, Barbara Stanwyck, William Boyd and Betty Bronson. "The Locked Door" opens tonight at the Grand theater and lives up to the elaborate ballyhooing given it by the critical press of other cities.

The story of this all-talker is laid in modern New York and mingles an ample quantity of romance for the girls and action for the men into an entertaining whole. The recording is excellent as is the photography and little is to be desired in the performances of the featured players.

Ann Carter played by Barbara Stanwyck the noted stage star is betrayed into a compromising position by Frank Devereaux (Rod La Rocque). She marries Lawrence Reagan (William Boyd), fails to tell him the adventure with Devereaux and regrets it later. There is a shooting scene with Devereaux as the victim. Ann who has been locked in the room with the dying man, takes the blame fearing her husband had committed the crime. Everything turns out right in the end and Helen Reagan (Betty Bronson), whose honor was at stake, returns joyfully to her brother and sister-in-laws home.

Amusing parts are admirably played and spoken by Mack Swain, Zasu Pitts and Harry Stubbs. Harry Stubbs, Harry Mestayer gives a remarkable performance as the district attorney.

"The Locked Door" is 100 per cent entertainment. It is a United Artists picture directed by George Fitzmaurice.

AT THE STATE

"On Your Back"

Double entertainment is afforded patrons of the State theater, where "On Your Back," the Fox movie-tone version of Rita Weismann's widely read magazine story, is to be seen and heard. Into the logical, forceful plot there has been woven a fashion show which is a decided highlight of the production.

The story, direct and dramatic, concerns the rise of a poor dressmaker who set out to achieve the heights of fame for herself and son. As a modiste of exceptional ability, she lovely gowns she creates soon carries her into an exclusive establishment on Fifth avenue. This background of luxury affords the opportunity to parade the latest fashions on mannequins of alluring beauty.

Tea gowns, afternoon frocks, dinner dresses wraps and negligees, each exquisitely displayed on an authentic model of the coming seasons mode are included in this lavish parade of feminine finery without ever forgetting the story.

Irene Rich has as the ambitious dressmaker, the most dramatic characterization of her career, while Raymond Hackett, H. B. Warner and Marion Shilling add the final word of excellency to the supporting cast.

Guthrie McClintie director of a score or more New York stage successes turned out a fine offering which we believe you will enjoy.

There's a town I love by a little

That runs past the hills of
